

Michael Page Banking

Organisations within the financial sector are constantly changing. Changes might have an effect on your most important asset - your employees. To be better than your competitors it is necessary to make sure that your organisation has the best people. Michael Page Banking can support you in this by providing effective and high-quality recruitment services within Front, Middle and Back office. The understanding of the short time frame of availability has led to a clear focus on the number of candidates interviewed per week in order to shorten lead times and make sure we don't lose any candidates during the recruitment.

Procedure:

Michael Page Finance uses the following tools for a successful recruitment & selection procedure:

1. Database study as the basis for each procedure; you benefit from an extensive network that has been built up in the Swedish and international labour market with more than twenty years of recruitment expertise.
2. Specific exposure via our user-friendly website(s), which has received several international awards; hundreds of vacancies and Michael Page's market leadership results in specific exposure of your vacancy to graduates/academics at home and abroad.
3. Advertising campaigns in print can be used to maximise your exposure. This is not a necessity, but depends on the urgency, scarcity of the relevant candidate profile and the number of candidates you are looking for. Advertising via Michael Page is advantageous because of the excellent position, price and recognisability of Michael Page advertisements in the various media and the possibility of distinctive colour use. We are happy to give you tailor-made advice as is appropriate.
4. Executive search is only carried out if specifically requested.
