

Michael Page Engineering & Supply Chain

Businesses are developing faster than ever as a result of more rapid strategic changes in companies. The product lifecycle is getting shorter and the processes of purchasing, distribution, quality assurance and communications are getting more complex than ever. One of the key challenges within today's supply chain operations is linking customer values with a more effective flow of goods and information. The flow is constantly affected from new customer and market requirements in an increasingly globalised surroundings. At the same time international regulations is setting higher environmental and ethical requirements with regards to the organisation. This means that the overall perspective of both the business and the supply chain flows are fundamental for achieving higher profitability.

Because of this development companies put great effort into improving the use of their resources. Every one of these factors have a significant effect on your most important asset – your employees. It is they who shape the new requirements that you are setting for your business. As the requirements of your business get more intensified you are more critical and dependent when it comes to recruiting new employees.

Michael Page Engineering & Supply Chain will support you in this time demanding but still crucial decision making by providing effective and professional high-quality services.

Procedure:

Michael Page Engineering & Supply Chain uses the following tools for a successful recruitment & selection procedure:

1. Network search as the basis for each procedure; you benefit from an extensive network that has been built up in the Swedish and international labor market with more than thirty years of recruitment expertise.
2. Specific exposure via our user-friendly website(s), which has received several international awards; hundreds of vacancies and Michael Page's market leadership results in specific exposure of your vacancy to graduates/academics at home and abroad.
3. Advertising campaigns in print can be used to maximize your exposure. This is not a necessity, but depends on the urgency, scarcity of the relevant candidate profile and the number of candidates you are looking for. Advertising via Michael Page is advantageous because of the excellent positioning, price and recognition of Michael Page advertisements in the various media and the possibility of distinctive color use. We are happy to give you tailor made counsel accordingly.
4. Executive search is from our client carried out if specifically requested.

